ARB

AT THE CUTTING EDGE OF ARBORICULTURE

MEDIA PACK 2023

essential ARB

ABOUT US | FEATURES LIST | ADVERTISING | GUIDE

THESE are turbulent times for the nation's trees, which means turbulent times for the nation's arborists.

The 2021-22 European windstorm season (not least Storm Arwen) did a lot of damage, which tree surgeons up and down the country spent much of the first half of 2022 clearing up. Then, in the summer, record-breaking temperatures put millions of young trees at risk of drought and wildfire, while highlighting the critical importance of urban trees in cooling population centres.

At the same time, the ongoing spread of pest and disease has heightened the risks for tree-care professionals everywhere, who have had to adapt to new regulations and seek out fresh approaches to their work. Over the last 12 months, it's almost been too much to keep track of.

That's why essentialARB is such an important resource for anyone in the arb world, keeping them abreast of what's happening in their sector. We're committed to sifting through the news, generating unique content and supporting arborists in their decision-making processes. Our loyal readership - both in print and increasingly online - appreciate our reliability, knowledge and independence, knowing we are an objective, open platform to all voices.

essentialARB's reputation as a reliable source of information, news, top tips and features also means our advertisers are able to benefit from the best, most reliable way to reach all aspects of the industry in the UK and Ireland. It is important we all play a part in informing readers in new ways to deliver the promise this great industry has.

There's no telling what 2023 could hold in terms of political, social and professional change and so our editorial output will remain flexible and insightful, pulling on the talents of contributors from across the industry - and the country - to keep our readers informed of the latest developments and most interesting stories.

Our monthly Buyer's Guides focus on specific items of machinery, equipment and services relevant to our industry (such as chainsaws, woodchippers, PPE, etc) highlighting what is currently available in the marketplace and any new product offerings.

In addition, we have special planned features which focus on specific aspects of arboriculture, covering such subjects as utility arb, stumpgrinding, pole-climbing and more.

All of the content in our print magazine is replicated in a digital edition and made available to digital subscribers on the Forestry Journal website. With unparalleled traffic in the industry, our website offers exclusive news, views, features, videos, recruitment posts and industry guidance, updated on a daily basis and shared widely across social media platforms.

In 2022, numerous brands and individuals featured in our magazine saw the added benefits of being featured in one of our video packages on YouTube and TikTok - and we're looking forward to creating a lot more fun, highly engaging multimedia content in 2023.

Our media pack reflects the ever-changing facets of what the publishing industry can offer - everything from bespoke print and digital packages, to print only, digital only and inserts. We have a package that will suit anyone and everyone. If what you're looking for is not listed in this pack, then enquire - that's what we are here for.

With our growing print subscriber base and online presence through the UK's leading content-based forestry website, our content is being seen an ever-wider audience, with the capability to reach all arb workers in the UK. Let us be part of your aspirations and needs for your business. Our professional editorial and commercial team is only a phone call or email away.

FEATURES 2023

ABOUT US | FEATURES LIST | ADVERTISING | GUIDE

Something for everyone in each issue!

Published bi-monthly, essentialARB's content will appeal to anyone working in the business of caring for trees - nurseries, tree surgeons, tree officers, consultants and ecologists.

Each issue contains features devoted to commercial, municipal and utility arboriculture.

In addition, special features run throughout the year focussing on particular topics. See the table below for more details.

Custom content:

Depending on your marketing objectives, custom media can be a perfect fit. Contact us and we will be happy to discuss your marketing goals.

Options to consider include:

A company case study: People want to know what's working for others. Tell how your company helps your clients be more successful. We'll take the lead for you and tell your story.

A client feature: There is no better recommendation than that of one of your customers... someone who uses your services or products day in, day out. A feature on one of your end users gets both you - and them - valuable publicity, and gets your story out there.

ADVERTISING

Copy requirement

We will accept advertising in a wide variety of formats. PDF format has become the standard (fonts should be embedded and pictures should be CMYK). Please supply bleed ads with BLEED MARKS not crop marks.

The magazine is produced using Adobe InDesign, Photoshop and Illustrator. Please enquire before sending artwork in other formats.

Text and images should ideally be emailed and must be large enough to be printed at 300 dpi at the target size. Jpeg compression, if used, must be kept at a high level to ensure colour is not lost. Low resolution images cannot be accepted, and images from digital cameras derived from non-professional sources may be unacceptable.

Advertisements can also be made up in-house by our production staff.

Copy deadline is the 20th of the month prior to the month of publication.

Front cover specification

Artwork for the front cover of essential Arb sits within a box measuring 209mm high x 216mm wide.

The masthead sits on the top of the page.
